

Please don't let people make cell phone calls on planes in flight. They already polute the air with trivial chatting while waiting in line to load the plane. If they were YOUR seat mate, would you like them chatting away for the length of the flight? I would not and a lot of people are not very courteous about hanging up and calling later.